

Seine Aval Agency

Comprising 13 urban ports and 4 multimodal platforms, including the port of Limay (78) located on the Seine Aval and the Oise, the Seine Aval agency offers logistics alternatives to companies in the western and northern Ile-de-France region.

- Territorial Department of Paris -
Published on 13 December 2018

Limay, the first river-sea port in the Ile-de-France region

The first river-sea port in Ile-de-France covers 125 hectares and 34,500 m² of warehouses, some of which are equipped with overhead cranes, covered pier-heads, road and rail handling platforms, support offices, platforms, serviced industrial sites, possibly with rail and water connections, and all the networks (electricity, water, gas, steam, industrial, sanitation, etc).

Sea coasters carrying from 600 to 2600 tonnes can connect Ile-de-France to the British Isles, the Iberian Peninsula, Scandinavia and North Africa without breaking the load. Close to the sea and located downstream of Paris, Limay has made river-sea transport one of its assets.

Limay Porcheville Platform

area: 125 ha

number of customers: 26 companies river traffic 2017: 1.1 MT Main activities: logistics, construction, agri-food, environment, energy and industry

Ports managed by the Seine Aval agency

- Courbevoie
- Asnières-bas
- Clichy
- Asnières-haut
- Saint-Ouen
- Saint-Denis l'Etoile
- Epinay-la-Briche
- Argenteuil
- Nanterre
- Le Pecq
- Achères (study)
- Les Mureaux
- Limay/Porcheville
- L'Oise
- Bruyères-sur-Oise
- Persan
- Saint-Ouen-l'Aumône
- Pontoise
- Persan
- Conflans-fin-d'Oise
- Triel (study)